CSU Fullerton Professor to Speak at Cal Poly Feb. 26 on "Spirituality, People of Color, and Prescriptions for Treatment"

SAN LUIS OBISPO -- CSU Fullerton Psychology Professor Joseph M. Cervantes will speak about the intersection of spirituality, ethnicity and healing Thursday, February 26, from 11 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. in Cal Poly's University Union Room 220. Admission is free and the event is open to the public.

Cervantes' research interests are in the role of spirituality and indigenous healing in the counseling process and pain management with Spanish-speaking patients. He is an associate professor in the Department of Counseling at Cal State Fullerton, and also maintains a private practice specializing in children, adolescents and families in the city of Orange. He completed his doctorate in community-clinical psychology from the University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

The event is being sponsored by Cal Poly's Psychology and Child Development Department. For more information, please contact the department at 756-2033.
